RESEARCH ASSISTANT OR ASSISTANTS WANTED

I'm looking for two full-time research assistants who are responsible self-starters, good at research and writing, and have either a solid understanding of both national and local politics, or a willingness to learn, or, better yet, both. The job will last 10 weeks, starting May 24th.

The assistant or assistants will have the opportunity, with help and supervision, to carry out a research project from scratch, including a literature review, interviews, document searches, analysis of materials, presentation of findings and the writing of an article.

If this job interests you, please let me have the following:

- A copy of your transcript
- A sample of your research-based writing
- A brief statement telling me why you're interested in this job, and why you think you'd be good at it.
- The names of at least two referees

Applications, due May 18th, are accepted in person, by Louise Lépine, Politics Secretary, or may be sent to christopher.leo@shaw.ca.
